SPECIAL GRAND JURY TO BEGIN PROBE FRIDAY

Summoned Today by Judge Robinson Moncure of Corporation Court

WILL CHARGE JURY

Jury Will Also Consider Big Criminal Docket—Will Summon All Who Know About Divorce Situation

A special grand jury today was ordered summoned by Judge Robinson Moncure of the Corporation Court to meet at 10 o'clock Friday morning in the corporation court to probe into the alleged divorce evil in this city and also to consider a large number of criminal cases now pending.

This jury will be composed of the following: Mayor James M. Duncan, Kenneth W. Ogden, William Desmond, Frank T. King, George K. Brawner, Elliott F. Hoffman, Samuel W Pitts, Walter C. Drury and Benjamin Abramson.

It is within the province of this jury to summon any persons within the jurisdiction of Virginia.

Two Washington newspaper men, A. Cloyd Gill and Harvey L. Cobb today were sent letters asking them to appear before the grand jury.

It is expected that the jury after first disposing of the criminal cases on the docket will probe into the divorce evil alleged.

The jury will be charged by Judge Moncure and urged not only to probe into the alleged divorce evil but other matters of public concern as well. It is expected that a number of persons who know about the alleged divorce evil here will be summoned to appear before the grand jury and tell just what they know regarding conditions that are alleged to exist.

This will be the first time that the matter has been considred by a grand jury and it is rgarded as highly probable that the jury will be in session for several days in its investigation. The special committee of the Alexandria Bar Association that is engaged in probing the alleged divorce laws here will hear final arguments Wednesday, and it is expected that it will complete its report soon thereafter.

Lectures in Christ Church

Dr. Rollins will deliver his second lecture on St. Paul's epistles at Christ Church on Tuesday, March 14, at 8 p. m. The subject of this lecture will be: "Practical Suggestions for the Study of St. Paul's Epistles."

Are St. Paul's epistles hard to understand? If not, why have they been thought so? Can they be made clear and intelligible to the average reader? Why was it that they were so eagerly and enthusiastically read by the people to whom they were first addressed? Those Christians were no more intelligent than the people of Alexandria. They were certainly less highly educated. Then why can not their Christians of Alexandria read them with the same intelligence, enthusiasm and profit as did the Christians of the first century? Dr. Rollins believes that they can, and he will in this lecture give seven practican suggestions which, if followed, will lead to the highest results. These suggestions will be fully explained and illustrated.

The people of Alexandria are cordially invited to be present

St. Patrick's Day Program

St Patrick's Day, next Friday, will be observed with a musical tea and play which will be given in the Lyceum Hall. The committee in charge is just now engaged in the task of completing the program which will be announced in the Gazette.

The play will be given by the Columbian Players. The public is cordially invited to participate in the celebration.

A silver offering will be taken at the door. Irish songs and music will be a feature of the entertainment.

Clarendon Trust Co., Proceeds With Building

Clarendon, Va., March 13.—With all legal obstructions now removed the Clarendon Trust Company directors have instructed the contractor, A. J. Porter, to proceed with work on the new bank building, which will cost approximately $35,000.

The single track of the Rosslyn branch of the Washington-Virginia Railway which crosses the bank property will be changed so as to connect with the main line east of the bank.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Washington, March 13.—George E. Long, War Department employee who was arrested here on a charge of writing a letter threatening the life of Mrs. Mary Scott Townsend, will probably again be arrested on a charge of using the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud, it was learned here today.

Mrs. Townsend appeared before the Federal Grand Jury Friday morning and Saturday spent several hours with agents of the Department of Justice going over the case. The letter addressed to Mrs. Townsend stated that unless she left $15,000 in bills of large denomination at a given spot her home would be dynamited.

An effort was made by counsel for Long to have the case in the lower courts dismissed o nthe ground of temporary insanity.

Major Peyton Gordon, United States attorney for the District, said today that if Long is insane he belongs in an institution, and if he is of sound mind he is a dangerous criminal and should not be permitted to go at large. According to Mr. Gordon every effort will be made to have Long punished for his alleged letter writing.

The United States Veterans' Bureau has 264 nurses ministering to the disabled soldeirs in vocational schools and at their homes. These nurses have more than 63,000 beneficiaries of the Bureau under their supervision.

The duties of these nurses are varied The principal duty is to follow up these ex-service men after they have been discharged from the hospitals in order that they may have supervision while they are convalescing.

A large number of the 105,000 disabled veterans in vocational training require medical supervision in order that sickness will not interfere with their rehabilitation. At least 12,000 ex-service men under the supervision of nurses require constant medical care. Probably the most difficult cases for these nurses to supervise are those who are suffering from mental diseases. A large number of these men are in vocational training, and it requires a close medical supervision in order to hasten their social recovery and ultimate rehablitation.

There is now being printed for general circulation a revised edition of "Care of the Baby," issued by the United States public health service.

Its eminent practical character is shown in the section on the bathing of babies. Young children, it says, should be bathed at least once a day, although during the hot, sultry months two baths will not hurt the average child.

An excellent illustration of the manner in which the $5,000,000,000 soldier bonus bill was written and the manner in whic hit is intended to pass it through the House has been given bv Representative A. Piatt Andrew, of Massachusetts, in a letter he has written to all members of the Ways and Means Committee.

Mr. Andrews proposes that the bonus should be paid to the families of all soldiers who died in the war as well as to the families of those veterans who have died since the war. He sets out that this proposal was made to the Ways and Means Committee, but that the Republican members, only nine voting, rejected it by a vote of 5 to 4. Thus, he points out, the votes of nine members will determine this important point for the whole House, inasmuch as it is intended to railroad the bill through that body under a suspension of the rules so that no one may have opportunity to offer an amendment to it or to discuss it at any length.

Efforts of the Republican leaders of the House to win President Harding over to the bill have abated for the time being, inasmuch as the President has served notice that he does not care to see members of Congress while he is on his vacation trip. A member of the Ways and Means Committee declared today that an attempt had been made to have the President to receive an emissary from the House to discuss the bonus bill, but that word had been received that he would discuss the matter only upon his return to Washington.

The President went away from Washington for a vacation. He intends to carry out this idea so long as he is absent from the National Capital. Representations from Senators and members of the House as to any particular legislation in which the Adminstration is interested will have no effect upon him. He is gone away to enjoy a vacation, and to get rid of congressional interference. And the President is entitled to this rest.

Fire Today at St. Elmo

A small frame dwelling house located near the coal chute at St. Elmo, Arlington County, was destroyed by fire shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. A defective flue is thought to have caused the blaze. Columbia Motor Company No. 4, responded and used chemicals on the fire. They saved nearby buildings from destruction. The house was occupied by colored people.

Club Was Organized in 1907 and Coming Season Promises to be Banner One

The Cardinal Athletic Club will hold a business meeting at the home of President Sylvester A Breen, 1322 King Street, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The Cardinals have ordered new uniforms from Robert E. Knight and Sons, sporting goods dealers, and the uniforms will arrive during the coming week and will be placed on display in the show window of that firm. The shirts and pants will be made of a fine-grade gray cloth with blue trimmings. The name "Cardinals" in maroon, letters will be placed across the breast of the shirts. Navy-blue Philadelphia style caps with red cord trimmings, maroon stockings with three gray stripes, and a broad maroon web belt, will complete the outfit.

The Cardinals are determined to make the 1922 baseball season the banner year of their long career since 1907. The many years experience of the officers of the Cardinals have taught them that the Alexandria baseball fans want home players. That is just what the Cardinals are going to give the followers of baseball in this

RATIFICATION OF TREATY BY END OF WEEK

Forecast Seems to Assure Ratification Only 27 Opposed

FIVE ARE DOUBTFUL

Talk of Probable Final Action by End of This Week—Brandegee Reservation Is Vital.

Washington, March 13.—Unless some unexpected development interferes with Senator Lodge's plan of adopting the Brandegee reservation, voting down other reservations and keeping the matter before the Senate until it is disposed of, ratification of the Four-Power Pacific treaty seems virtually assured.

In some instances, the opponents of the pact are coneding, privately, that their chances of increasing their voting strength are very slim, and that under these circumstances there is little advantage in continuing the struggle. Consequently, a vote on ratification may be reached before the end of 3 weeks. Senator Lodge has already announced that he will endeavor to keep the Senate in continuous session today, or until a vote is had on the Robinson amendment.

Assuming that Senator Lodge's plan of adopting the Brandegee reservation is carried out, the vote on the treaty has been forecasted as follows:

A forecast of the vote on the treaty, assuming that Senator Lodge's plan of adopting the Grandegee reservation is carried out, may be made on the following basis:

For ratification:

Total—61.

Against ratification:

Republicans—Baroh, France, Johnson, LaFollette—4.

Total—27

Probable Absentees—Crow, Owen, Stanfield—3.

The opposition claims to have a good chance of winning over a majority of the senators classed as doubtful, but even if they should win 4 out of 5, and secure all the other votes they are counting upon, they would still fail to defeat ratification, even if all three of the absentees, Senators Crow, Owen and Stanfield, did not vote and were unable to secure pairs. In this case the vote would stand 62 to 31, or just enough to provide the two-thirds vote necessary to ratification.

Any forecast of relative strength may, of course, be altered by unforeseen developments, especially if the contest over reservations should bring about new alignments through disturbing the plans of the majority leaders.

U. S. Naval Torpedo Team is Organized

The baseball team of the U. S. Naval Torpedo Station is making preparations for the coming season. This station expects to have a good team for Saturday afternoon games for the fans of the city that are willing to help to support it, and will play on the new diamond at the head of King street if arrangements can be made with the Cardinal A. C. which now has full control of the new baseball grounds to be.

The following named men are expected to play with the team this season: Stickley, Mitchell, Sampson, Conroy, Odnwald, Hall, "Pop" Meeks, Miorin, Kane and Disbrow.

The team this year will be an all Alexandria team, none of the above named men live out of the city. Through the efforts of the Business Manager of the team this will be the third season that the station has been represented in the sports of this city.

When we get started give us a lift and we will give you the best that's in us.

FEAR OUTBREAK IN BREATHITT

Armed Men of Feud Factions Await Opening of Court

35 on Trial For Murder In "Bloody Breathitt"—Guard of State Troops Probably Will be Asked

Jackson, Ky., March 13.—Circuit Court for Breathitt County will begin here this morning, with 35 men waiting to be tried for murder. Men of opposing factions are going about under guard, and a feud outbreak is expected. It is likely that Governor Morrow will be asked by tonight to sent State troops here to prevent a general outbreak.

Even the trial judge, Samuel Hurst, of Lee County, is understood to be coming here through the mountains with a strong body of guards to protect him from violence. The most sensational cases to be heard are those growing out of battles in the Clayhole election precinct, this county, last November election day, when 21 men were murdered and a number injured.

It is hinted that several leading politicians may be made uncomfortable before the trial ends. The slaughter and other violence in Clayhole precinct caused a contest in the present Legislature over the representa

BONUS ABUSES FEDERAL CREDIT SAYS MELLON

Says Measure Would Cost $600,000,000 By 1925

CALLS ON CONGRESS

Letter to Fordney Demanding That Means Be Provided Regarded as Forecast of Veto.

Washington, March 13.—In a letter to Chairman Fordney, of the Ways and Means Committee, made public yesterday, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon makes a searching analysis of the insurance certificate bonus bill just framed by the Republican majority of the committee. He declared the bill involves "a dangerous abuse of Government credit" and advises the leaders of his party in Congress that if there is to be a bonus, they should face the music and provide the funds in a straighforward way.

"It is clear from these estimates," Mr. Mellon said after reviewing the measure, "that whatever form the soldiers' bonus may take, it will cost from $300,000,000 to $400,0000,000 for the next three or four years, and may involve continuing liabilities thereafter of over $200,000,000 a year until 1943."

Having said early in the letter that the present bill presumably had been framed with a view of "reducing the apparnt cost to the Government," Mr. Mellon said later:

'It is impossible to avoid the cost, if a bonus is to be adopted, and it is both dangerous and unwise to attempt to avoid it for the time being by throwing the burden upon the banks of the country, and piling up for the Treasury an accumulated liability which, in 1925, may amount to over $600,000,000.

"There is no way by which the American taxpayer can avoid the burden, and if a bonus is to be imposed, it is far better for all concerned that it be placed upon a direct and definite basis and paid for each year out of current revenue. To do this at the present time will necessarily mean the imposition of additional taxes for the purpose."

The letter to Mr. Fordney is under date of yesterday. It is in reply to one sent by Mr. Mellon by the Ways and Means Committee March 8, stating that the committee would be glad to have this comment upon the bill that has been framed. The committee probably had no idea what it was inviting. For, regardless of the merits of the bonus or this particular bill, the Mellon letter is one of the most devastating attacks upon proposed legislation that ever has come from the Treasury.

Known since the beginning of the Harding administration as an opponent of a soldier bonus, Mr. Mellon devotes no time in the letter to the discussion of the basic question. He deals solely with the character of the measure that the Republicans of the Ways and Means Committee framed after weeks of uncertainty; shows what it would cost and what the cost would mean to the Government; and virtually tells the leaders of his party in Congress that the method of meeting the cost is a moral fraud upon the country.

IN CONGRESS YESTERDAY

SENATE

Met at noon and recessed at 4:55 p. m., until 12 o'clock today.

Minority Leader Underwood, member of the American delegation to the arms conferenee, spoke at length in support of the four-power Pacific treaty.

He described it as "the real treaty of peace," and said he would vote for it in the same spirit that actuated him to support the treaty of Versailles and the league of nations.

Senator Underwood denied that the treaty was an alliance, but added that even if it were, and were founded on arbitration rather than force, he would support it.

During his speech Senator Underwood read a letter from Secretary Hughes replying to criticism of the treaty, in which that official said no ingenuity in argument or hostile criticisim can add or to make the treaty's engagement greater than "its unequivocal language sets forth," and declaring there are no secret notes or undrstandings.

Passed the Sterling bill extending civil service retirement privileges to government employes appointed by executive order, the measure being designed to meet conditions resulting from a decision of the Attorney General.

Passed the second deficiency bill, carrying a total of $136,895,000, of which $73,714,000 is for the veterans' bureau in vocational rehabilitation of former service men. All District items reported by the committee were adopted.

Adopted a resolution appointing a special committee of five senators and five representatives to attend the ceremonies accompanying the arrival, March 30, at New York, of the transport Cambria with the last of the American soldier dead for burial in home soil.

HOUSE

Met at noon and adjourned at 4:55 p. m., until noon today.

Under the provisions of a new naturalization law introduced by Representative Johnson, Washington, chairman of the immigration committee, enemies of the government would be excluded from the United States, and aliens admitted would be required to register annually.

Chairman Kahn of the military affairs committee announced that Secretary Mellon and Attorney General Daugherty will be called before the committee this week to explain certain phases of the government's war projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala., which came under the jurisdiction of their departments.

Secretary Mellon will be asked how the Muscle Shoals project can be financed in the event one of the offers requiring government financing should be accepted, while the Attorney General will be questioned regarding legal complications which the committee has discovered in connection with certain contracts held by the Alabama Power Company and the Air Nitrates Corporation.

TOTAL OF 561 ATTEND IN MONTH

Physical Education of Y. M. C. A., Classes Attracts 175

Sewing, and Dressmaking Lead With 237 Present in February—Benefit Sale Saturday

An enthusiastic meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. was held at the Chamber of Commerce last Thursday night, at which time most gratifying reports were made of the work which the auxiliary is now doing.

The educational committee report showed the organization of several new classes at the beginning of the second term in February, among them being the class in Shakespeare which is taught by Mr. David Jones and which is proving so popular, and the Extension Course on Citizenship and Virginia Government, taught by Miss Elizabeth Pidgeon of the University of Virginia.

Girls' Gymnasium, 99; Women's Gymnasium, 76, making a total in physical education of 175; Cooking, 32; Women's Dressmaking, 14; Girls' Sewing and Dressmaking, 237; Shakespeare, 82; Citizenship, 21. Total attendance in classes during February, 561.

Free motion pictures of an educational nature were shown to 246 girls also.

In order to help raise funds to continue those Educational Classes which are not self-supporting, the Auxiliary decided to hold a home made cake and pie sale at Graham and Ogden's next Saturday morning. Those desiring to secure good cakes and pies at reasonable prices should bear this date in mind.

Among the guests at the wedding of the Princess Mary were the kings of Spain, Belgium, Norway, Italy and Denmark. In fact, about all the kings that are left in the deck.

FEAR PEACE PLANS MAY GO TO EXTREMES

President And Advisers Anxious Over Proposed Cut In Armed Forces

CONGRESS IS LASHED

National Armament Council Threatens and Pleads With Body For Relief From Excess Taxation.

Washington, March 13.—Administration leaders are face to face with a situation in respect to disarmament that is regarded as nothing less than a dilemma. The Washington Conference, which reflected much glory to the present Government, has given a continuing impetus to the idea of scrapping armaments—so much so that the President and his advisers, before he lef tthe capital last week, had become fearful that Congress may take the bit in its teeth.

President Harding has announced that he favors a considerable reduction, all that his army and navy advisers think is safe, but it is now regarded as almost a foregone conclusion that Congress will slash the estimates regardless of what the President's advisers may say.

The secretary of the navy and the head of the army would each like to retain at least a sufficient staff of officers and men to form a skeleton for future sudden expansion should the necessity arise, and both have argued at length before the committees of Congress against reducing the officer personnel in direct proportion to the reduction of men.

General Pershing was testifying one day this past week before the Military Affairs Committee of the House on the question of personnel.

"That is the absolute limit," he had just informed the committee.

"Well, what are you going to do, General, if we cut it to two-thirds of that amount? demanded one of the members, who was evidently thinking about sentiment in his own district.

The question was the more disconcerting, for it appeared to reflect what others of the committ were thinking.

"Of course," replied General Pershing, flushing, "we will do what we always do—make the best of it."

Indications are frequent enough that such an attitude in Congress is not merely sporadic, but is a direct reflection of a certain public sentiment. An illustration of this is the pronouncement of the National Council for the Reduction of Armaments, that Congress has the opportunity to give the world relief from crushing taxes, "and will be held responsible to the people for what it does on the army and navy bills.

In a statement the Council urges Representatives to realize that the Conference has rendered war with any power unthinkable, and therefore Congress should bring the army and navy down to police status. It asks a 50 per cent cut from the $75,000,000 named by the heads of the departments.

"Before the Conference," the Council says, "our naval plans amazed and alarmed the world. Our defense act of 1920 looked to the mobilization of the nation. We spent $1,600,000,000 on the army and navy in 1920. We set aside $868,000,000 for their maintenance this year, while from three to five million breadwinners were idle, our farming industry paralyzed, the cost of living inflated 60 per cent, and we had a budget to raise of nearly $4,000,000,000. We were asked to contribute $800,000,000 more in 1923 with this crisis still upon us, and we were girding ourselves to the task when the Washington Conference came."

The statement continues:

"Secretary Hoover says that the Conference has removed the threat of war from our generation. Many signs go to show his statement is not exaggerated. The naval limitation treaty has confessedly made it impossible for Japan to attack us with assurance of success or for us to attack her across 5,000 miles.

"We are safer from war than we have been in a generation. We have a right to the fruits of peace. This nation can not afford, with its debt and its unemployment and the high cost of living to spend more than $400,000,000 in preparing for a remote contingency such as war. The $400,000,000 saved will be needed desperately for the constructive life of the nation in 1923.

"Other governments will be glad to avail themselves of the opportunity we give them to reduce their armament, and if they do not follow our example willingly they will be compared to do so, because taxes are higher everywhere than here."

Queen Wilhelmnia of the Netherlands is a great lover of flowers, and in the park and conservatories at Het Loo the rarest flowers and plants are to be found, on the care of which neither labor nor expense is spared.

CITY PUBLICITY

The San Antonio Chamber of Commerce has just accepted the proposition of a $40,000 publicity campaign advanced by the San Antonio Advertising Club, setting forth the advantages of San Antonio, Texas. The plan calls for the operation of electrically-lighted bulletins at railway stations in the large northern cities, and publication of stories in nationally circulated magazines and newspapers. This will give the city a nation-wide publicity that will bring it conspicuously before millions who might not otherwise give it a thought. That it will get its money back manyfold is a foregone conclusion. We hope the time is not far distant when Alexandria will likewise awaken to the necessity of nation-wide publicity and follow in the footsteps of its sister cities in the United States who have tried it and found it effective. Our Advertising Club might find it interesting to work out a plan some time. By the way, we hope our Advertising Club will soon emerge from its hibernation and resume its wonted activities!

LABOR

There comes to our editorial desk now and then a copy of "Labor," a national weekly newspaper published in our neighboring city of Washington. Its columns are filled with the bright and interesting news of the day as it relates to the ranks of labor. Its cartoons and illustrations are timely and pertinent, and its editorials well-written and thoughtful. We do not always agree with its conclusions, but we always respect its endeavor to be fair and its effort to attain a just and equitable viewpoint. We believe thoroughly in the motto displayed at its masthead: "All power is inherent in the people; therefore all power to the people." We can also devoutly say Amen to its spicy comment last week on President Harding's first year in office. It remarks, editorially "At the end of his first year in the White House President Harding says the record of his administration speaks for itself. We agree with him. Now that the record has spoken, what is the verdict of he jury? 'Guilty as charged',—without even a suggestion that the court should be merciful."

SPRING WEATHER

Yesterday was a perfect spring day. Crowds thronged the streets throughout the day and hundreds of automobilists passed through the city and practically every machine in the city was in operation. The temperature rose to fifty-six degrees.

Hundreds of persons made trips to Washington, many going to the Zoo and Rock Creek Park. It was the first perfect spring day of the year and was greatly enjoyed by all.

LEPROSY IN THE UNITED STATES

Wash., D. C.,—"Leprosy" says Surgeon General Cumming, of the U. S. Public Health Service, "though comparatively rare in continental United States, is still a public health problem of much greater seriousness than seems to be popularly supposed. Its virrulence waxes and wanes in accordance with laws that we do not understand, and our present comparative immunity does not lessen the necessity for being on guard.

In the past we have not escaped. In 1786 leprous beggars were so common in New Orleans that they had to be segregated in a leprosarium. In 1864 three percent of the population of the Hawaiian Islands were lepers. In 1890 California had to establish a leprosarium, and Louisana and finally Massachusetts followed suit.

In 1902 the Public Health Service reported 1,226 lepers in the United States, 148 of whom had been born in this country, and only 73 of whom were under any restraint. Today, according to the best estimate obtainable, there are from 1,500 to 1,500 lepers in this country, a number of whom are known to have acquired the disease in the Philippines. When we acquired the Philippines several thousand lepers had to be and still are segregated in a settlement at Culion. Foci of the disease exist in the United States on the Pacific coast, in the Northwest, in the Gulf States, and along the Atlantic seaboard.

It was not until 1889 that the U. S. Goverment took its first steps to prevent leper from coming to this country, and the preventive laws are now sufficiently explicit. Never-the-less, the long period during which the disease incubates before declaring itself makes it very difficult to shut out all potential lepers. To meet this difficulty the law provides that for three years after admission, any alien leper may be deported if the cause of the disease existed before he came to the United States. Within the United States lepers may not travel in interstate commerce except under limits prescribing special precautions to prevent the spread of the disease.

Protection against the disease is rendered more difficult by the fact that leprosy is found in a very large portion of the habitable globe, ranging from Russia and Iceland to India and America, North and South, and that the ever-increasing ease of communication offers many facilities for its importation to the United States. Nine lepers were turned back at quarantine during the fiscal year 1920-21.

In February, 1917, Congress provided for a national home for lepers to be administered by the Public Health Service, but so strongly did the various States object to the founding of such an asylum within their borders that it was not until four year's later that the Service was able to carry out the provisions of the act by acquiring the State leper home in Louisiana. Part of this home has been remodeled, and work on the remaining necessary alterations and additions is proceeding.

The gloomy outlook for lepers has recently been tinged by the discovery of a mode of treatment involving the use of chaulmoogra oil, which for 200 years has been reported to be of beneficial affect for leprosy. This oil itself is absorbed slowly and is apt to cause painful abscesses, but the hypodermic injection of ethyl, devised by Dean, has supplied a way by which it may be used without undue suffering. Since 1912 a total of 183 patients have been paroled from the Kalihi Investigation Station of the Public Health Service who have received the chaulmoogra oil dervia-tives only 12 (8 per cent) have returned for further treatment.

While it is too early to say that a specific cure for the disease has been found it is certain that the ethyl esters constitute a most valuable agent in the treatment of leprosy, especially for young persons and those in the early stages of the disease; in older persons and advanced cases the indications are less promising. On the whole the results have been so favorable as to make the outlook distinctly hopeful. But only time can tell.

VENTILATING AND HEATING THE SICK ROOM

A sick person needs fresh air certainly as much as a well person, and probably even more. His room should be ventillated thoroughly, not only during the night but during the day as well. A fireplace simplifies the problem of ventilation, but in most cases an open window is the main dependence. It should be possible to open windows from the top as well as from the bottom, and the patient may be protected from a direct draft by a screen or by a sheet stretched along the side of the bed and fastened at the head and foot by tying it around the posts.

Ventilating a room without subjecting the patient to drafts is not always easy. One method is to insert a board three or four inches high under the lower sash so that air is admitted between the two sashes. Another way to ventilate without causing a draft is to remove one of two panes of glass and tack cheesecloth over the opening, or to lower the upper sash about a foot and tack cheesecloth over the space. Once or twice a day the room should be thoroughly aired by opening windows and doors until the air has been completely changed, but the patient must be well covered during this process even his head. An electric fan is useful in summer but it should not be close enough to the bed for the patient to feel the air blowing upon him.

Great care should also be taken to maintain a suitable temperature in the sick room, and for this purpose a thermometer in the room is a necessity. Between 65 and 68 degrees is generally the best temperature, and hot water bags and extra covers may be given if the patient is chilly.

There are some of our railroad companies that never can be maintained until the process of consolidation which is outlined in the Transportation Act of 1920 shall go forward to consummation, writes Senator Albert Cummins in The Nation's Business. The American railroad problem will never be finanlly solved unless one of two things happens:

First, unless all the railroads are consolidated into comparatively few systems, say fifteen or twenty, and

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Brother Andrew J. Hickey was with us the other night, with his forceful talk that impressed all those present as a talk between man and man. A master of oratory, yet Brother Hickey prefers to choose that ease of discourse that enables men to ponder more upon what is said than the way in which it is expressed. His theme was "Education," and he hand led it preeminently. He bore out the opinion of thousands of his predecessars in faith when he declared that of the mind, imagination and the heart, the least named constituent of the human being was the most important, for the heart is the depository of the will, and a well disposed heart means a well regulated will. He spoke of the great work that the Knights of Columbus had done during the Great War, and while appreciative of the past, he maintained that we should not dwell upon past successes, but should be up and doing in the line of promoting new steps that will insure to the national good of America. Education, he said, had always been fore most in his thoughts and he rejoiced in the hope that one day Washington would see the rise of a High School for boys and girls under the patronage of the Knights of Columbus. Archbishop Curley, of Baltimore, had expressed his hope in this direction, and Mr. Hicky hoped that both his and the Baltimore primate's desires would one day be fulfilled. We trust that Brother Hickey will come over to see us again, for his presence with us is always the source of much instruction and entertainment

Brother C. M. Horgan has submitted to the council a plan for financing a monthly bulletin in the interest of the council.

We now have our assistant warden Brother James Roche has been appointd by the grand knight as assistant warden, and Brother Roche is now back with us manifesting his usual interest in K. of C. affairs. The other night Brother Roche gave us evidence of his usual good form in the way of a little talk he gave us.

The first of the Clayhole cases to be called for trial will be against Will Campbell and Will Barnett, for wrongful possesison of the election ballots," in which it is claimed that after the killing the ballots were taken from the election clerk, thrown in Troublesome Creek and riddled with bulelts. The Clayhole murder cases include three charges against Will Campbell, Will Barnett, Amby Barnett, Willie Davis, Marion Barnett, Ed Davis, Alfred Barnett and Chester Davis, one for the murder of Asberry Combs, one for the murder of Ethan Allen and the other for the murder of Cleveland Combs.

Other cases are against L. L. The session of court, it is said, will continue for 6 weeks and will include the remaining cases of the Commonwealth against Luther Noble and others charged with the assassination of the deputy jailer in an attempted jail delivery last December, killing one woman and wounding another.

Close friends of Judge Hurst, who was a candidate in the election out of which the killings occurred, stated that he will vacate the bench on account of his connection with the election and that the Governor will be asked to provide a special judge to hear the cases.

Everything will be done in a strictly business way this year by the Cardinals. All baseball teams booking games will have to execute a contract form, which will be binding in every particular for them to play scheduled baseball games. No games will be arranged in a verbal manner or over the telephone—everything must be in "black and white," or, if red ink is used, that is sufficient. Heretofore the Cardinals have visited out-of-town teams with the verbal promise from managers to play return games in Alexandria, but when the time arrived for playing said games they failed to keep their promise. It was a joke on the Cardinals, for the team paid its own expenses for such contests.

The Cardinals are going to give the Alexandria baseball fans some live-wire battles with first-class sandlot teams during the season. If the fans attend the games and make a liberal donation to aid in paying the necessary expenses when the hat is passed around by collectors, the players on the team will be satisfied.

Manager Walter Disbrow, of the Cardinals, had his young athletes out for light practice and a chance to supple up their muscles yesterday on the Shipyard Field. The diamond on the new playing field was staked off Saturday and preparations made for filling the holes in the outfield. The infield will be covered with clay and sand and then rolled to a smooth surface. When the improvements in grading are completed, Business Manager Bernard DeVaughan will have rows of seats erected for the convenience of the Cardinals baseball fans. No charge for witnessing games or using the seats will be made. The best baseball games played anywhere are those where the players strive to win for honor and to please their admirers. The Cardinals motto will be: "Everybody welcome. We play to win."

LIGHTING THE SICK ROOM

Sunlight is one of the most powerful disinfectants in the world and for this reason, and no other, it is needed in every sick room. Sunless rooms, moreover, even if they were wholesome, are too depressing to a patient's spirits for use except, perhaps, in hot summer weather. Ordinary well-regulated light is best in a sick room and, except in a few diseases, especially those in which the eyes are affected. It is undesirable to darken the room or to encourage in any way an appearance of gloom. The patient's eyes should be protected, however, from bright lights and their reflections strike differently upon the eyes of persons sitting or standing, and a light that seems agreeable to the attendant may therefore be painful to the patient.

Almost all persons sleep best in dark rooms, and in most cases it is undesirable for a sick room to be lighted at night. The attendant, however must be able to see what she is doing and generally needs a shaded candle, small night light or an electric flash. It should be possible to see the patient clearly in case of need, otherwise serious changes in his condition occuring in the night may pass unnoticed.

A reading lamp on the bedside table is desirable for patients allowed to read, but reading in bed, even with a well-regulated light is fatiguing, and should not be continued for long uninterrupted periods. A pocket flash light is safer than matches and a candle for patients who wish to consult their watches in the night; indeed, matches in the hands of patients always involve risk while a flash light can be kept under the pillow within easy reach without any danger whatever.

Some patients find twilight a period of great depression. In such cases the time may be shortened by drawing the shades early, lighting the lights and remembering not to leave him alone. This should be done unostentatiously, because any obvious attempt to cheer a person up generally results in increased depression. All artificial lighting in the sick room should be designed for restfulness and cheer, but when the patient wishes to take a nap the lights should be lowered.

MOTHER, QUICK! GIVE CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP FOR CHILD'S BOWELS

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on the bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

IT'S DIFFERENT IN ENGLAND

Public authorities cannot always get off scot-free from the consequence of their negligence. In England there are boards of trustees in charge of harbors. One of these boards failed to remove from the entrace to its harbor the wreck of a vessel sunk by an enemy submarine or to place proper buoys to indicate the wreck. As a consequence of this negligence, two steamers struck the wreck, to their damage and to the damage of the cargo they carried. They presented over $2,000,000 in claims against the harbor trustees.

Had Such Terrible Dizzy Spells He Fell And Was Seriously Injured—Now Well And Strong Again After Thirty Years of Suffering.

"I'm a believer in Tanlac for it certainly put an end to thirty years stomach trouble for me," said J. E. Barner, 815 Miller St., Petersburg, Va.

"I don't believe anybody ever suffered any more from indigestion than I did. Sometimes I would have an attack and the cold sweat would run down my face. I had awful dizzy spells too, and one fell and broke four of my ribs. After this I was afraid to go around by myself.

"Every three or four days I would have an awful attack of indigestion and would have to lay off from work, so Tanlac has helped me both in health and pocketbook. The fact is, it has made a brand-new man out of me."

THE MERRY JOURNEYS OF MARY JANE

"Mary Jane", said Jumbo, "if folks only knew how sweet and good this Mary Jane Syrup is, why everybody would eat it all the time."

Mary Jane Meets Jumbo—The Big Elephant

ONE day, the circus came to town. There were trained pigs, and clowns, and beautiful ladies riding in chariots, and a cage full of monkeys. But what Mary Jane liked best was the great big elephant, Jing Lin Ousanni. But everybody called him Jumbo.

Jumbo had a very wonderful nose. It was four feet long. And Jumbo could wrap it around a big man, and lift the man right up on his back. Jumbo could pick up a pin with his nose. And he put the end of it right into Uncle Jim's pocket and took out a lot of peanuts.

Mary Jane got to talking with Jumbo and he told her all about Africa and crocodiles, and tigers, and jungles where you get lost right away, just as soon as you stepped off the little path.

Mary Jane was so pleased to hear Jumbo that she opened up her lunch basket and brought out two great big slices of bread spread with delicious Mary Jane Syrup, that she had for when she would get hungry from watching the lions.

She gave one of them to Jumbo, and he took it right up, and curled his long nose around till he put the whole piece of bread in his mouth at once. "Mary Jane", said Jumbo, if folks only knew how sweet and good this Mary Jane Syrup is, why everybody in the world would eat it all the time." And Mary Jane said that's what she thought, but she didn't like to say so out loud for Mary Jane Syrup was named after her. And then she said "good-bye" to Jumbo, and drove home with her Uncle Jim in his Ford.

"It's wonderful, indeed, how many people are afflicted with disease arising from disordered stomach," said the Tonall representative. "I dare say 70 per cent of the population over 30 years of age are afflicted with some one or other of the diseases caused by disordered stomach, such as Indigestion, Heartburn, Headache, Shortness of Breath, Vertigo, Constipation and General Run-down System, Nervousness, Loss of Sleep, etc. No, I never knew of any remedy as yet that cured all the ailments which mankind suffered. However, there appears to be a remedy for every disease, but what percentage cured I know not, but I know there are mor stomach troubles caused by taking into the system drugs to allay certain diseases which caused untold suffering to the already afflicted; and I say acids and minerals taken as a medicine leave the sufferer worse off than before. Now, if you will read the formula of Tonall you will note Tonall contains no minerals or acids, but contains more different Herbs, Roots and Barks than any other proprietary medicine on the market, and each and every Herb, Root and Bark is a tonic within itself. We would not have given away a sample bottle, a week's treatment free, if we were not fully aware of the merits of Tonall. We also know the majority who called for a sample bottle were the most sorely afflicted and had been taking almost any kind of medicine they ever heard of."

Read what the Great New York Papers said about this Marvelous Screen Play:

The New York Herald said, "The patrons shrieked and roared. They had witnessed the most sensational photoplay climax that ever aroused a cataract of emotions. Enough to raise the hair on a man's head and raise the man out of his seat."

The American said, "One can not enumerate the multitude of virtues in the film."

The Evening Mail said, "The theater resounded to cheers, whistles and yells of delight. Pandemonium broke loose."

The World declared, "It had the spectators standing and cheering. As many generations of the future will be charmed and thrilled by the shadow shown as have swept applauded and chuckled over the stage play."

The Times said, "The audience sat in rapture to watch its unfolding. Of the hubbub which followed the ice-jam scenes at the end, any audience would have cheered—and all audiences will."

Howard Chandler Christy says: "I take this opportunity to congratulate you on the finest motion picture I've ever seen!"

John Barrymore says in a letter to Mr. Griffith, the producer, speaking of the acting of the star, Miss Gish: "I merely wish to tell you that her performance in 'Way Down East' seems to me to be the most superlatively exquisite and poignantly enchanting thing I have ever seen in my life."

Big Show Tomorrow

"The Four Horsemen" Begins a Three Day Run at the Idle Hour Tomorrow

The first show of a three-days run of the stupendous film success "The Four Horsemen" will begin in the Idle Hour Theater tomrorow afternoon. In all sections of the land this picture has met with wonderful success, and has been seen by millions of Americans.

The cast, the most brilliant ever assembled for a photoplay, is headed by the unversal favorite, Rudolph Valentino, and also numbers many others of international fame. Among the others in the cast is the famous "Bull" Montana.

"It is the greatest picture I have ever seen," declared Mr. Galvin. "Its dramatic power is something wonderful, and it affected me just as much as though I were witnessing a spoken performance. It stirs the emotions and I am not ashamed to say that parts of that picture brought a lump to my throat and tears to my eyes.

GERMANY'S STRUGGLE FOR EXPORT

Not so long ago Germany had the export world worried, says The Nation's Business. Alarming tales were told of Teuton traders booking orders from Tokyo to the Transvaal.

Cheap German production, we were warned, made it easy for her factories to flood the world.

Rival nations fell to framing tariff walls. Even England, so long a free-trade because "free" raw materials are cheaper, turned from her ancient policy to entrench against the Germans—against dyes, dishes and dolls, silks, socks and cloaks, textiles and telescopes. From Sydney to Stockholm the world heard the cry of "wolf" and salesmen mobilized for the "war after the war."

But the "war," somehow, is dragging a little; neither casualties nor spoils, so far, have been very heavy.

Today German's exports are hardly 40 per cent of their pre-war total—measured in dollars— and even less in volume. It's true that many German manufacturers are pouring into Argentina, for example, but it's also true that they're peculiarly conspicious, and cause comment, because during the long years of war almost no German wares at all went overseas.

Now as before the war, Uncle Sam seems to absorb only about 7 per cent of German's exports.

It is interesting, but not exactly easy, to try to point out the particular German goods which so far are in closest competition with our own—at home and abroad. Production conditions are changing so fast in Germany that an article which can be bought in Berlin today at a low price may be very expensive, or not obtainable at all, a few months hence.

LOOT SAFE OF $1,000

Burglars Rob Sanitary Grocery Store At Ballston

Thieves blew open the huge safe in th ebranch store of the Sanitary Grocery ompany at Ballston, Va., early Sunday morning and escaped with nearly $1,000.

The robbery was discovered by the manager, Edward G. Yonker, shortly before noon yesterday. He immediately communicated with Inspector Clifford L. Grant, chief of Washington detectives. Detective Fred Sandberg was dispatched to the scene to secure finger prints.

Breaking the lock on the front door, the burglars, believed to be two in number, smeared the cracks around the safe door with soap, dripped nitroglycerine around the crevices and attached a lighted fuse. The door was completely blown from its hinges. The only clue left by the thieves, which, according to the police, might lead to an arrest, was a small crowbar and a jimmy.

The store is located in the heart of the town's business section. The building is surrounded with a lawn and the adjoining buildings are approximately thirty feet away.

ONE OF THE MANY THRILLING SCENES IN D.W. GRIFFITH'S "WAY DOWN EAST"

"Way Down East" is the outstanding hit of the current season on the American stage. It is being seen throughout the country simultaneously and playing to the greatest crowds that were ever drawn to see an American story since the establishment of our stage. Over a quarter of a million theatre-goers in the different cities of the country are weekly witnessing its presentations. This is a good average attendance for a season for an ordinary attraction and speaks plainer than any words of description as to the merits and the appeal of the Griffith masterpiece.

The screen version is based upon the simple tale of plain people revolving around the love of David Bartlett and Anna Moore in a New England rural community as originally played upon the stage in the dramatic tale by Lottie Blair Parker for a decade. Griffith has embellished it with those rare touches that he brings to everything he does for a motion picture narrative but upon such a scale that he has literally evolved a new art form. It possesses scenes of such sweetness and charm that they are pronounced worthy to hang in the art galleries of the land and he has added a thrilling climax showing the rescue of Anna by David after her battle through the night with the storm and the great ice jam and the floe on the river which is universally proclaimed the greatest scene ever seen within a theatre in the world's history.

The all star cast which carries out the story quite eclipses any cast that ever appeared in this piece on the speaking stage.

THE CLOUDS ARE BREAKING

As we write this, hogs have reached the ten dollar mark. Wheat is up a little, and noting a change for the better, and are more cheerful, says James R. Howard, head of the Farm Bureau.

"The farmer is coming into his own again," says Julius Barnes, former wheat director, and he continues in these words: "It is time to quit telling the framer that he is bankrupt. It is time to quit telling industry that there is no farm market. All farm selling prices are on the upgrade. All that the farmer buys has cheapened. Labor is plentiful and cheaper. Farm credit difficulties have ceased.

J. Ogden Armour, the meat packer, is equally encouraging in his summary of the outlook, in a public statement he sends out from Chicago: "We are getting over our sickness," Mr. Armour says. "It is time to forget what is behind us and look ahead I am optimistic on the business situation, and believe it is no time to sell stocks or anything. We are getting out of the low-priced period and all the bad stuff is behind us. Business is better all around. Live stock is higher and we must look ahead."—Farm Life

OBJECTIVE SYMTOMS . . . .

Symptoms may be devided into two classes: first, objective symptoms, or those that can be noted by an observer, like coughs, pulse rate, temperature or color of the skin; and second, the subjective symptoms, which are apparent only to the person affected, like pain and fatigue. The success of any woman who cares for the sick depends to a large extent upon her quickness and accuracy in noticing and reporting these symptoms and their variations. It should be remembered that pronounced symtoms are not the only ones of importance; even slight symptoms that continue over an appreciable length of time may be of very great importance, and should be watched carefully.

In noticing signs of illness, any unusual expression of the face should be noted; whether it is drawn, pinched, anxious, excited or dull and stupid; and also whether the face is thin, swollen or puffy under the eyes. The conditions and appearance of the skin are significant. The skin may be dry, moist and clammy, hot or cold; its color, and the color of the face especially, may be flushed or pale or slightly yellow or blue . A bluish tinge about the nose, tips of the fingers or the feet should be especially noticed. Reddened or discolored areas on any part of the body may be important, and also eruptions, rashes, swellings or sores. It should be noticed whether the abdomen is normal or whether it is distended and hard.

Strength or weakness is indicated to some extent by the way a patient moves and by his ability to walk, stand, sit, hold up his head, feed himself or turn in bed without assistance. The position he habitually takes is sometimes significant; in heart affections, for instance, he may be unable to lie down, in pleurisy he ordinarily lies on the affected side and during abdominal pain he generally draws the knees up. The person who takes care of the patient should notice all these things and report them to the doctor so that they may be considered in his diagnosis.

In like manner a person supposedly well may betray a weakness by his carriage and movements, and any marked deviation from his ordinary degree of erectness and briskness should be regarded as a symptom at least of undue fatigue, perhaps of illness. If it is only fatigue, rest and sleep are all that is necessary, but if listlessness and weakness persist they are generally indications of a more serious disorder.

WHAT SHALL I DO WITH THEM?
Give them away—throw them away—sell them to old shoe dealers? No a bit of it, dear lady. Bring them here and watch us transform those old, dilapidated, shapeless, apparently useless shoes into the finest looking footwear you ever saw. Don't believe we can do it? It will cost you nothing if we don't prove it to you.

Harvey Church, Murderer, Mentally Dead, is Carried to Gallows

(Copyright by Examiner-American Pub. Co.)

Harvey Church, convicted murderer of Carl Asmus and Bernard Daugherty, automobile salesmen, was "mentally dead" when he went to his death on the gallows at Chicago. His case knows no parallel in the history of Chicago. For forty days he remained silent and for several weeks prior to his execution he had carried on a self-imposed fast. So weak was Church at the hour of his doom that he was strapped to a chair and bodily carried to the scaffold. Church's body was cremated and the ashes sent to Adams, Wis., his boyhood home.

Princess Mary and Husband in Royal Wedding Clothes

Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles at Marriage Altar

Grant Memorial Will be Unveiled at Washington on April 27

A great memorial to former President Grant will be unveiled in the Botanical Gardens at Washington, on April 27, marking the culmination of twenty years of work by the designer and sculptor, Henry Merwin Shrady, of New York, whose father, Dr. George F. Shrady, attended the famous military leader up to the time of his death. The work is pyramidal in outline, with all the minor figures and groups sweeping up to General Grant, astride his horse, in the center of the memorial. The complete work is one of the most beautiful ever conceived.

Chicago's Prettiest Girl Becomes a Bride

Culminating a romance that began when she was coronated Queen of the Chicago Pageant of Progress last Fall, Miss Marcella Kinard, hailed as Chicago's prettiest girl, has become the bride of Captain Horace E. Eakins, of the U. S. Army. Her husband caught a glimpse of the beautiful girl at her "coronation." It was a case of love at first sight.

Princess Hassan to be Object of $2,500,000 Suit

A demand of $2,500,000 for legal services in securing half of $10,000,000 from the estate of the late Prince Hassan for his American wife, formerly Olga Humphrey, well-known actress, has been made by Herman L. Roth, New York theatrical lawyer. Roth was engaged to secure a divorce for the Princess he says, and employed high-priced Paris lawyers to aid him. But the Prince died before the divorce was granted. Princess Hassan, who had returned to America, still was his legal wife. She inherited $5,000,000, half of the estate left by Prince Hassan. Charging that the Princess Hassan agreed to split "fifty-fifty" with him any money realized from court actions against the Prince, Roth brought suit. Princess Hassan resides in California.

Florida Mayor Likes Modern Styles

Pretty girls will not be forced "to wear foolish and unnecessary frills" on their bathing suits if Mayor Frank Fortune Pulver, of St. Petersburg, Fla., has anything to do with styles. With the Purity League in his city advocating the abolition of the one-piece bathing suit and the adoption of more demured costumes, Pulver has announced that fair damsel vacationists in his city may choose their own styles. His edict made him popular and here he is shown with a bevy of pretty bathers. In the rear are Dorothy McClatchey, Montreal, and Margaret Collany, Atlanta. In front are Pauline Buhner, Chicago; Mary Grigsby, San Francisco; Mayor Pulver, St. Petersburg; May Buhner, Chicago, and Mary Bullard, Cleveland. Four of the girls serve as lifeguards.

Compressed Air Saves Man's Life

Compressed air saved the life of Torres Olson, a diver, when he was seized with the "bends," caused by working deep under water. Olson was rushed to the Brooklyn Navy Yard and placed in the tank pictured here. Paralysis in Olson's legs was relieved when the tank was filled with compressed air. The diver is shown here looking out of the air tank which saved his life.

Dead Can Be Revived Doctor Claims

The dead can be brought back to life, asserts Dr. Octavio F. Petroso, Brazilian physician, who has arrived in New York. A blood transfusion apparatus invented by Dr. Petroso, he declares, makes this startling feat possible. Here Dr. Petroso is pictured demonstrating his apparatus. The blood, pumped from the dead bodies, is sterilized and treated with a serum. Then it is pumped back into the body, giving renewed life. Dr. Petroso has restored the lives of dead rats, he declares, and will do the same for humans.
